I installed in linux, but the installation has a 'w32'code, will this work with win10 (64-bit)? or do you have a alternative solution for linux? It's very important for me to run it on my Windows 10 64-bit. Thanks a lot! About the program : - You can find this software online on their page here. - Currently it is free. - You can also download the trial version here (in the download page) - I will give you some contact for the support team - From that point, you can contact them and ask for a refund or a file (thank you page). - To contact the support team, you can do it online from this website: It is the name of the page with the link for the support. - The new software will be opened in the memory of your computer. - You can also register for the support in the "features and services" page and pay for it. - In case you want to download and use the software, the license keys will be downloaded at the end of the registration. - If you have not registered, you will have to pay for it to download the license key. - The registration will be simple and only the name and the e-mail address must be filled out. - The file will be downloaded to your computer and after the installation, you can launch the program - There is no need to register because it is free! - If you don't have access to the internet on your device, you will be prompted to download the file. - This software is a standalone application, which means that you can install it and then, to use it, you will need to restart your computer. After you have downloaded and installed this software, try the steps that follow to be able to register for the support and access to the registration page: Select the bottom right corner of the screen and then click on the small triangle with three horizontal lines. Click on "settings" and then on "about". Scroll down the list, locate and then click on the "support" tab. Click on the "login" button located next to the "Register". Fill in the registration form. After the registration, you can access to the "help" and "register" pages, as well as the "features and services" page. The "register" page will display
