If you think it is very important to buy the game you can add the game to your basket with the existing cart. In the basket you will see if you have already selected the game. When you finish the basket (e.g. close the browser) the cart will be removed from the basket and you have to select again. Please be careful if you change the value of the game in your basket. If you choose 'add to basket' you will be able to select the game again. The game-theoretic solution seems clear. The House should impeach President Trump on a serial basis. Over the next ten months it should investigate and vote sequentially on ten or more separate articles of impeachment. The first article should be extorting the Ukrainians to investigate a political rival and interfere in our election. This investigation and vote can be concluded and taken in October. This, in fact, appears to be what the Democrats are planning. In November, the Democrats should focus on the worst of Trump's many acts of obstruction of justice developed in former FBI Director Mueller's investigation of Russian interference in the 2016 election.
